Brooklyn Law School

Joan G. Wexler
Dean and Professor of Law

June 2002

Dear Members of the Class of 2002:

On behalf of the faculty, administration, and staff, I want to congratulate you on your graduation from Brooklyn Law School.

You may remember that a few years ago — the night before you attended your first Legal Process class — I welcomed you to the Brooklyn Law School Family. In the future, as you leaf through this great volume, I hope you will be reminded of what a large, proud, distinguished, (and fun!) family you have joined.

I also hope that this yearbook will serve as a lasting memento of the events that took place during your years at Brooklyn Law School. I know that looming among them are the terrible events of September 11th — events that cast a very long shadow indeed. But please remember that even in shadows, flowers grow. We met as a community at a Town Hall meeting shortly after September 11th to affirm our beliefs in the values on which our great nation is based. We met again during the year, led by members of our faculty, to discuss the legal issues involved in our national response to the tragedy. Our final Centennial event, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the first day of classes, was a fabulous street fair on the plaza that included the candied apples, sushi, and carnival games. I hope you will recall these positive events when you think back on your law school experience.

I know that the demands of law school have been immense, but that is precisely why you can take immense pride in your achievement. I also want you to know that even though you are graduating, you still are a member of the Brooklyn Law School family. There will be many "family gatherings" in the years to come, including class reunions, scholarly symposia, moot court competitions, and other social and professional events.

We look forward to seeing you at them.

With all best wishes,

BLSA DINNER

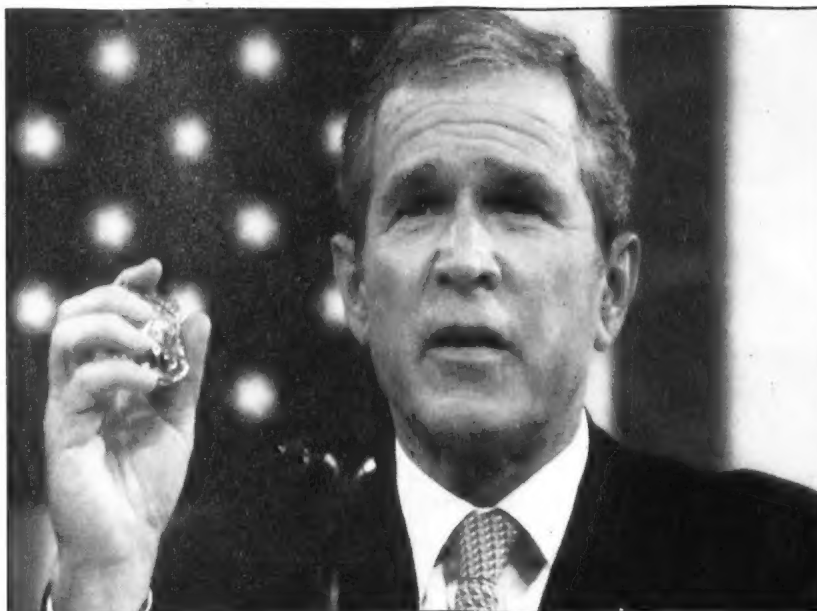

SEPTEMBER 11, 2001

In the worst terrorist attack ever on U.S. soil, hijackers crashed passenger planes into the World Trade Center, collapsing the 110-story twin towers. Nearly an hour later, another passenger plane struck the Pentagon leaving a gaping gash in the nation's hub of military power. A fourth hijacked plane crashed in western Pennsylvania after an heroic struggle by the passengers for control.

More than 3,000 people died in the September 11th attacks, but countless more survived in the largest rescue effort in the history of the United States. The terror attacks could not keep America down, with the New York Stock Exchange, professional sports and the airline industry returning to business less than a week later.

Filipino Traditional Wear by Alan Fajardo

Celebrating diversity at Brooklyn Law School, the Cultural Fair brings students from all over the world together for food and fun. This year, about a dozen student groups worked together to bring something from their home to ours. Here you can have corned beef and cabbage as an appetizer, lasagna and curry vegetables for an entree and baklava for dessert. Better than that, it was free! Aside from great food, there were cultural performances, dances, prizes and a great display of traditional wear.

Brooklyn Law's First Class Celebration

BLS' Centennial Convocation on September 28, 2000 started out there on the law school plaza. It was done with style: the faculty and student leaders well clad in academic finery, dignitaries watching on with approval, and an exquisite youth chorus ringing out their fine voices. Dean Joan G. Wexler led the community to reflect on the school's proud history, from its humble beginnings in 1901 in a Brooklyn basement, to the turn of a new millennium.

All year the milestone was marked with symposia on challenging legal issues of the 21st century, the Centennial Gala at Essex House on May 20, 2001, and many social gatherings shared with alumni and associates. Events culminated with the First Class Celebration on October 4, 2001, on the plaza, letting us get a respite from the pressures of classes and of the outside world and bask in the delights of the food and fun, under a big tent on a sunny afternoon.

You would play a game (or all of them) to get cool prizes: centennial canvas bags, centennial pens, and little centennial key chains (notice the theme yet?). A big screen television's documentary, chocked full of fascinating images of and information on BLS' personages and history, mesmerized you. In fact, you were probably just amazed that a TV was put out on the plaza for your viewing pleasure!

We had the goodies: carnival games; neon-colored caps (pink, green, orange, and yellow-hoped you collected them all); the tasty foods—to name a few: finger-lickin' chicken wings, pastries, nachos (with lots of oozing cheese), and, for balance, dip'-em well veggies, (haven't you had enough of the feasting yet?); and lots of loud music (with apologies to the dedicated who were still in the library, hovering over their casebooks).

The Centennial year commemorated how we remembered the past with pride and how we hoped and worked for the best in the future. As the saying goes, a good time was had by all. And, don't forget: the legacy of BLS is still a work in progress, since we are carrying it with us once we head out into our careers. If the first hundred years are any indication, just think how amazing the next hundred years of BLS will be and how proud we are to be a part of making it happen.

For one reason or another, not all 2002 graduates made it to our photographer in one piece. Some attempts will be made to include those people in candid shots throughout the rest of the book.

Alumni Office

To the Graduating Class of 2002:

We made it! After three or four years of legal education, our brains are packed with precedent, professionalism and practicality. We shove off into a daunting marketplace, armed with the wisdom and wit of our professors and the support of our friends and family. Our experiences during law school have led us down paths none could have imagined and will prepare us for many more unbelievable journeys to come. Some of us leave Brooklyn Law School adorned with a vast array of achievements: Journal, Moot Court, top class ranking, CALL Awards, scholarships, published notes, organizational leadership, polished resumes, dream jobs, a job, engagements, children and even marriages. All of us, however, will share the single accomplishment of earning our degree: one that should not be taken for granted. Our graduating class has endured the most tumultuous events and we should all feel proud of our achievement and perseverance throughout.

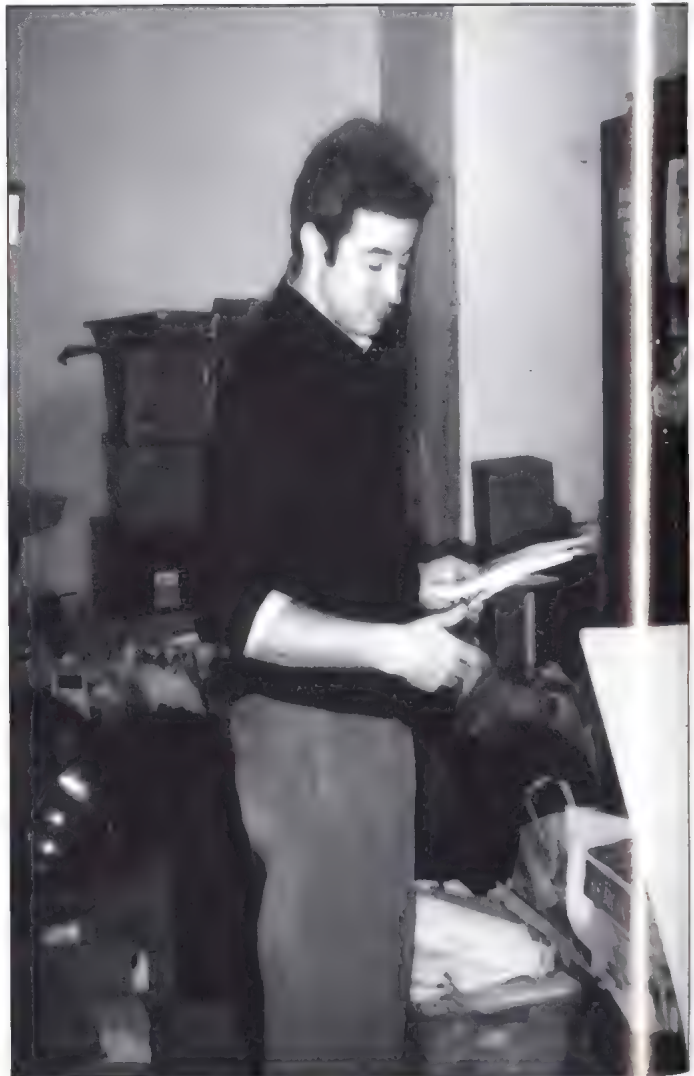

Glancing back on life as a 1L, graduation seemed light years away. At the time, we all thought overcoming exams would be our most difficult pursuit. But we survived, and are now faced with a new obstacle: the bar exam. Our lives and careers will present more challenges, and we must learn to tackle each one with the same ambition and determination as we did our first year. We will not, however, be alone in our endeavors. We may be departing for separate career paths, but the support of our law school relationships remain.

As President of the Student Bar Association, I have had a wonderful time getting to know all of you. I am sure you are all relieved now that you will not be receiving any more of my emails regarding student events, but I have enjoyed keeping you informed and hopefully the SBA helped make life at BLS a little better. On behalf of the entire student body, I wish you all the best of luck in your life and career. Hopefully one day our paths will meet again.

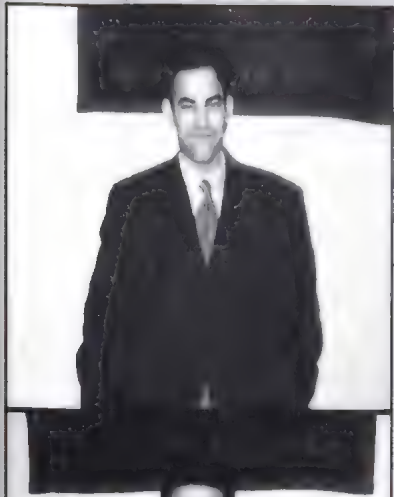

Very Truly Yours,

Kenneth Anand
